Marianna Ellenberg: Pawel & Ebola

Archived Event

Feb 22–Feb 24, 2018

No Longer Showing.

Marianna Ellenberg's Pawel & Ebola follows a dysfunctional brother and sister duo—the fictional offspring of infamous French neurologist and hysteria clinician Dr. Jean-Martin Charcot—whose world is disrupted by the arrival of a bizarre cult named “The Method.” A hybrid language and fragmented narrative convey a world torn between the precarity of global capitalism and the sexual repression and institutionalized misogyny of the 19th century. Organized by Lumi Tan.

This project was created in collaboration with choreographer Greg Zuccolo. The cast includes India Salvor Menuez, Maxwell Cosmo Cramer, Mikéah Ernest Jennings, T. Ryder Smith, Deidrea Hamid, Angeli Sion, Hanna Novak, and Alexandra Tatarsky. Music: Paula Matthusen with live sound and electronics by Anthony Dean. Set Design: Jian Jung. Lighting Design: Jeanette Oi-Suk Yew. Costumes: Nancy Stella Soto and Ala Dehghan. Assistant Director and Stage Manager: Molly Zimmelman.

February 22–24, 8pm

Julius Eastman at The Kitchen (/blog/78)

Jan 24 2018

Historically speaking, the cultural importance of The Kitchen has revolved at least in part around its very obscurity. In other words, the platform exists precisely to propel work that resists easy definition, and the artists working here—throughout the organization’s nearly five-decade existence...Read On \(/blog/78\)

The Kitchen announces its Winter 2018 season! (/blog/77)

Jan 03 2018

Every year, The Kitchen presents artists whose works are uniquely, often provocatively resonant within contemporary culture – challenging our understanding of art and, as important, of social convention. In fact, they continually change our sense of both, creating the possibility for a new relati...Read On \(/blog/77\)

The Art You Make Possible (/blog/76)

Dec 15 2017

At the end of each year, it's humbling to step back and recognize what amazing works artists have created at The Kitchen. In our gallery, think of a generation-defining video installation by Meriem Bennani or all-night loft party by Martin Beck; radical new choreography and staging by Jen Rose...Read On \(/blog/76\)
